The Old Kent Community Interest Corporation Presents THE HUMAN TRADE ASSESSMENT

HTCRCv1.11

The Old Kent Community Interest Corporation

How does society identify organisations that bring people together to work in harmony with humanity? The Old Kent Community Interest Corporation (TOKCIC) is building a program dedicated to collecting data on commercial contribution to social justice and human development.

The Human Trade Assessment (HTA)

This survey is your first step in our community based monitoring program. It was created so that you can anonymously analyse your employer. We're asking you to tell us how the management (administration) bring people together and if they trade in harmony with your society. We want to help communities identify organisations that support a free, fair and healthy environment.

The HTA is designed around the 12 essential elements of social cohesion: Merit, Social Mobility, Safety, Security, Ecology, Equality, Honesty, Health, Family, Freedom, Dignity and Solidarity. These Pillars of Harmony are the foundation of our assessment.

The objective is to bring humanity together to evaluate commercial activity. As we collect information we'll be able to publish comprehensive data so that you can compare your administration with others, inside your organisation, around your industry, on your map, in your community.
